

Shinichiro Okamoto, MD, PhD

Deputy Director, Keio University Hospital

Professor, Division of Hematology, Department of Internal Medicine

Keio University School of Medicine

Division of Hematology, Department of Medicine Tokyo Japan

Papers:

- Manufacture of Platelets from Human Adipose Tissue-Derived Mesenchymal Stromal/Stem Cells: Functional Comparison to Concentrate Platelets
- Development of a New Mouse Model for Mature B Cell Lymphoma and Resistance to Fas Restoration-Triggered Apoptosis
- Second Attempt to Discontinue TKI in CML Patients Who Have Sustained CMR for over 2 Years Is Rarely Successful Even with the Use of Second Generation TKIs
- Long-Term Treatment with Imatinib Is Associated with Decreased Estimated Glomerular Filtration Rate and Hemoglobin Level in Patients with Chronic Myelogenous Leukemia
- Association of Peripheral Regulatory T Cells with Achievement of Deep Molecular Response in Newly Diagnosed Chronic Phase Chronic Myeloid Leukemia Treated with Dasatinib – the Final Results of D-First Study